SLIGHT SPORT FOR THE FANS

St. Albans Did Not Offer Good Opposition to Italian A. C.

SEVERAL NEWCOMERS WERE TRIED OUT

Locals Had No Trouble in Winning, 9 to 1, on Saturday

Under the most favorable weather conditions that Barre baseball has experienced for a month, the I. A. C. took the St. Albans ball tossers into camp Saturday afternoon on the Berlin street grounds, sending them back to St. Albans with a 9 to 1 score to think about.

As a ball game it was decidedly void of interest, as a farce it was extremely good. The Italians did not exert themselves, although they played a nice article of ball in the field, making out one error and that an excusable one by Bresnahan, who is shortstop for the Italians, after Brackett hit a daisy cutter down near second base that was a difficult one to handle. Bean, who has been pitching a little for Plainfield, was given a try-out by the Italians and impressed the crowd by his steady work, not issuing a single passport to the initial station and holding the visitors down to scattered hits. There were three men on the mound for St. Albans during the contest, none showing any signs of a second Walter Johnson, although Brackett, who finished the game, seemed to get out of the holes with better success than did his predecessors, who were wild, besides not having anything on the ball. However, the blame cannot be laid entirely on the pitchers, for the team in general played a shaky game in the field with the exception of Shannon, the center fielder, who made the prettiest catch that has been pulled off on the old ball park in many a moon. After slipping down in short center he turned and gathered in Lavoie's long lift on the stone chips in deep center field while on the run. It looked to be a sure triple. He also captured two other hard chances in left center that were labeled two-baggers.

St. Albans went out in one, two, three order in the first three innings, but the Italians started things right off the reel. After Bresnahan fanned, Gaco drew a pass; Lavoie followed him with another walk and both crossed the rubber when Comolli got his two-base drive. The inning ended with Weaver and Brown being easy victims on infield outs. The second stanza didn't show any excitement, only the call for volunteers by a recruiting officer who motored into the park and appealed for help from Barre boys that might see it their duty to respond to the call.

In the third Hebert, who started for St. Albans, met his Waterloo. After Bresnahan knocked one through short that was too hot for Sheehan to handle, Gaco followed with a safe drive to left center and Lavoie and both men home with a three-base clout; Comolli knocked a fielder's choice and Lavoie beat the ball to the plate, Comolli proceeded to steal second and third and crossed the rubber a minute later on an infield error.

The first hit that St. Albans registered came in the fourth when Brackett singled after Budd had whiffed the breeze, but nothing came of it, for a minute later he was run down between first and second and Moore ended their half of the inning by fanning.

At this juncture Hebert was yanked out and Moore replaced him in the box, but the change was no improvement, for Moore was wilder than a March hare the two innings that he was on the hillcock. The first man to face him was Calcagni, whom he hit with a pitched ball; Bresnahan bunted on the third strike and was declared out and by a nice catch by Shannon in center and a quick relay to second to nip Calcagni the inning was ended without any tallies. The fifth, however, Moore couldn't pass with such luck as in the stanza before. Comolli started the inning by flying out to Shannon and then Weaver drew a pass; Gay, who took Brown's place in center, worked another free ticket; Weaver stole a base and came home on a passed ball. The inning ended when Bean flied to Hebert, who was catching for Moore and a second later Gay was nipped at first by a quick throw from Hebert to H. Ables.

Everything went along quiet until the eighth, when Bean got a life on one of Brackett's shoots and scored on a two-bagger by Granal, who took Waco's place in left field; Granal stole third and scored a minute later. Calcagni ended the inning by fanning.

The visiting team made their only score in the ninth. After McConnell had fanned for the third successive time, Budd came across with a three-bagger in the far corner of center field and came home when Brackett knocked one too hot for Bresnahan to handle. The game ended after Brackett was caught off of first and Hebert rolled an easy grounder to Bresnahan. The score:

King, the new college man that Connie Mack is trying out on third, is showing some "pep" and will give Pick a good run to hold down the berth.

George Whittel, the old Braves outfielder, is playing the game for the Phillies and he has been robbing his old teammates of hits right along, smearing a triple off the Rabbit's bat in Saturday's game by making a great catch.

The Red Sox are beginning to climb. Saturday's game making five in a row.

The Athletics have failed to win a game on the Red Sox grounds so far this season, losing the sixth Saturday.

The Tigers and Cleveland are playing some pretty hot contests, having had four games go into extra innings so far this season.

It was stated Saturday that Hughie Jennings would return Hamilton to the St. Louis Browns where he recently bought him. The cause of Hamilton's disposal was the purchasing of Willie Mitchell of the Indians. Hamilton was bought with the understanding he could be returned in 30 days if his work was not satisfactory.

CORN PRODUCTS CO. BANNED AS TRUST

Federal Judge Learned Hand Orders Dissolution of Combine in 120 Days.

New York, June 26.—The dissolution of the so-called corn products trust as "an illegal combination which has shown an inveterate and incorrigible insistence upon interfering with the course of commerce" is ordered by Judge Learned Hand of the United States district court in a lengthy opinion filed Saturday. The concerns involved are restrained from continuing the practices by which they built up the trade.

The corporations included in Judge Hand's decision are the $80,000,000 Corn Products Refining company, the National Starch company, the Newely Candy company and the St. Louis Syrup & Preserving company, which according to the federal prosecutors, control more than 60 per cent of the trade in glucose, starch and their by-products.

The suit asking for the dissolution under the Sherman act was filed March 1, 1913. Special United States Attorneys Van Sinderen Lindsay and Jesse C. Atkin sought to have the combination dissolved on the ground that it was an illegal combination in the restraint of trade. The attorneys for the defense were O'Brien, Boardman & Platt, James M. Sheehan of Chicago and Preston Davis.

ORPET TO TAKE THE STAND.

Case Will Probably Go to the Jury This Week.

Waukegan, Ill., June 26.—Counsel for Will H. Orpet, the university student on trial for the death of Marian Lambert, pleaded Saturday to have the case taken from the jury, but this was denied by Judge Donnelly. A motion that the court instruct the jury to return a verdict of not guilty also was denied.

Orpet will take the stand in his own defense today. His lawyers intend to prove his innocence by mathematics. In arguing a motion to strike out of the records the testimony of Dr. Ralph Webster, the Chicago toxicologist, James H. Wilkerson of counsel for the defense, is believed to have revealed his plans. The opening arguments will be made to-day. The case will probably go to the jury this week.

AGREEMENT OVER CHINA.

Japan and Russia Come to an Understanding.

Tokio, June 26.—It is learned at Tokio that Japan and Russia are making favorable progress toward the conclusion of an agreement for protection of their mutual interests in China. The understanding is based on the principle of preserving the integrity of China. According to a published report, the pending agreement contemplates a conservative and efficient adjunct to the existing alliance between Japan and Great Britain. It might be termed a defensive alliance for the protection of the common interests of the empires in eastern Asia. The foreign office thus far has made no statement on this subject.

Style in Trousers as Important as Style in Coats

Hart Schaffner & Marx feel that way about it—so do most young men.

In the Varsity Fifty-Five designs, the trousers carry out the general idea of the suit; the slender appearance, following the lines of the natural figure.

Snug at the waistline, straight hanging from the hips; just short enough to clear the instep with a slight "kick up" at the heel—men know what that means; worn mostly with turn-ups.
